Dear Presidents, dear friends,

The FFESSM (French Underwater Federation) is organising an international open Underwater Target Shooting in France.

This event, which was initially scheduled for May 2020, has been postponed to 2023. It is now on the CMAS calendar and will take place at the Stade Nautique de CAEN in Normandy (France) from 26th to 28th May 2023.

This international meeting will be a world first simply because there has never been an international competition in shooting piercing at 3 meters, hence the name OPEN INTERNATIONAL TARGET SHOOTING.

This competition is the major event and the kick-off to other international events, as new emerging nations have found interest in the updated version of the international rules and competition format.

We also wished to associate this international meeting with a national youth challenge in order to boost young underwater target shooting abroad.

Normandy is a land full of history and we would be honored to welcome you to this international event.

A guide for the presentation of the tests is being finalized and will be sent to you shortly.
